How to Guide

Welcome to the world of Nomination

Here at T H Baker we aim to offer you not just impeccable customer service in store and when placing orders online, but also to provide you with an excellent level of aftercare should you need any help when it comes to your jewellery. In this guide, we'll give you all the information you may need to know about Nomination, a fabulous collection that originated in Tuscany, Italy in the 1980's. From choosing a collection to learning how to put your bracelet together, we're on hand to give you an easy step-by-step guide on all things Nomination.

Choosing your Nomination collection

When it comes to Nomination charm bracelets, the collection can be broken down into three categories: Nomination Classic, Nomination Big and Nomination iKon. Each of these categories feature a wide selection of stylish links that, when secured together, will make up your bracelet. Before you begin building your bracelet, it is important to decide on the collection you'd like to go for as the size of the links in each category vary. The image below shows the size difference between Classic, Big and iKon links. Links from each of the three collections will only fit with other links from that same collection so, if you decide to opt for a link from the Classic collection, from then on you will build the rest of your bracelet also from the Classic collection.

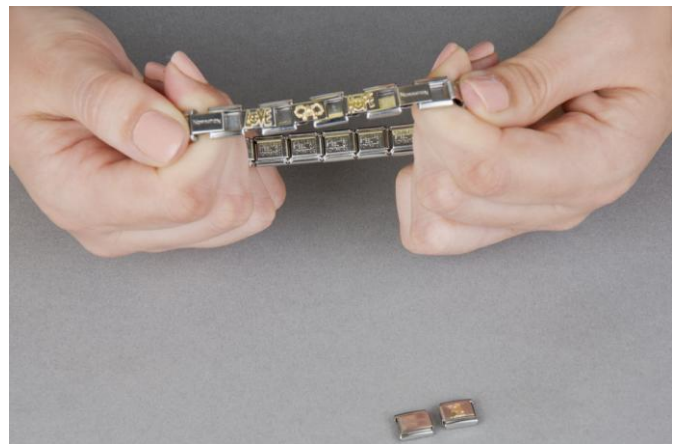

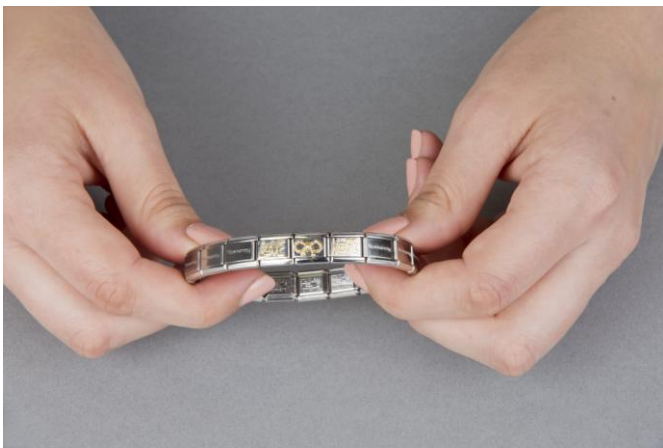

Upon purchasing a complete Nomination bracelet from the T H Baker website, you will be sent a bracelet comprised of 18 blank links with one featured link.

Please note: Nomination complete bracelets are available in one size. You cannot purchase individual blank links; therefore in order to increase the size of the bracelet you must purchase more featured links.

We will now guide you through the process of adding links to your Nomination bracelet. Should you require further assistance, please give our customer services team a call on +44 (0)1384 880 682 or pop into one of our stores.

Adding links to your Nomination bracelet

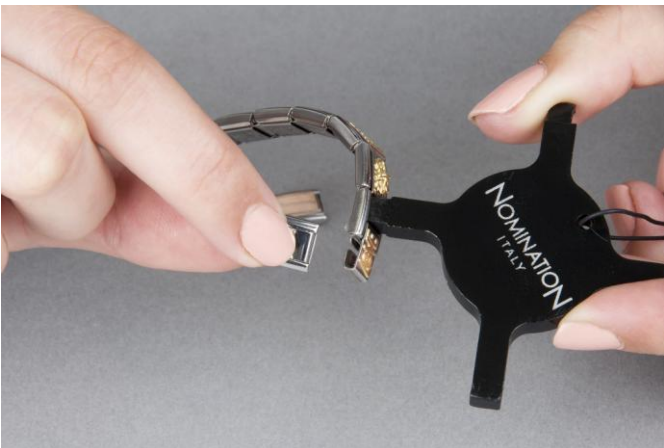

1. The first step is to decide where on your bracelet you would like your new link to go. If your bracelet is already the correct size, you will need to remove a blank link to be replaced with your new featured link. If you would like the bracelet to be looser, add your featured link in without removing any of the other links.
2. Upon stretching the bracelet, you will notice that the links spread out revealing the spring-like mechanism that connects each one together.

3. If you stretch the bracelet out and look on the underside, you will be able to see the hook mechanism more clearly.

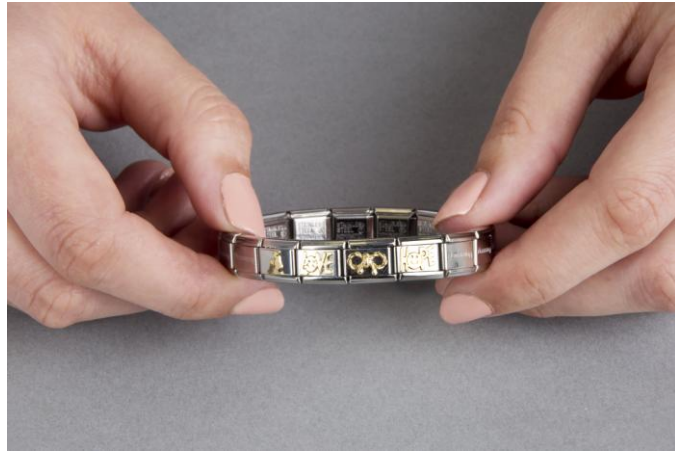

4. To add a featured link, you will first need to open the bracelet at the place you would like your new link to go. If you're using your hands to do this, stretch the bracelet out until you can clearly see the hook, then push this link forward making an arch with the link next to it. Keep pushing the one link forward until it gently unhooks.

5. Once you have opened your bracelet, repeat step 4 on your single featured link to add it to your bracelet. If you're using the Nomination Composable Charm Tool, instead of using your thumb, insert the Nomination tool in between the charms instead. The tool features four extensions relating to the type of links, e.g. the extension named 'classic' will only fit between Nomination Classic links.

6. Once you have your new link in place, you can now close up your bracelet. This is done by pushing the link forward again and hooking it back onto the link next to it.

7. Once step 6 is complete, you are now free to wear your Nomination bracelet.

Please note: The images used in this guide feature links from the Nomination Classic collection. The same process applies to Nomination Big and Nomination iKon links.

How to ‘Nominate’

Once you have filled your Nomination bracelet with featured links, you will be left with another bracelet made up completely of blank links. A wonderfully innovative idea, Nomination suggests that you give this new bracelet to a loved one, thus ‘nominating’ them to begin their own collection. You may even decide to treat them to a featured link to help them get their collection started.
